Can you say "horse?"

The new school year meant new riders. For one new rider, there were a lot of tears. Wearing a helmet and being on a big horse with new people was hard the first time. Yet within a few minutes of riding, the tears were dry and he was tossing bean bags out on the trail. He primarily uses a computer communication device, but after just a few weeks of riding he met his instructor at the beginning of a session, happy to get his helmet on and declaring "Horse!"

We are still amazed at how effective being on a horse can be. The dynamic motion of the horse keeps the core engaged to build strength, and stimulates the sensory systems to organize for communication, processing and motor planning. All of this leads to our ultimate goal of empowerment for our riders. Yes...HORSE!
